Síntesis

Whether you are working on your chosen career path or not, there are some soft skills that you can always work on and will help for the rest of your life.

The ones mentioned in the text are:

Effective communication

Being able to take complex problems and simplify them for all audiences is a critical skill in any position.

Teamwork

Having the chance to work with people with different backgrounds and capabilities is always an opportunity to enhance our interpersonal relations.

Influencing without authority

We don't need to be in a managerial position in order to have an idea that can change the current state of a business or a process. But influencing is a skill that we undoubtedly need so we can make it possible.

Problem solving

Structured thinking with logic-based reasoning is a well appreciated skill wherever we are.

Leadership

Leadership is about guiding and influencing others to maximize their capabilities to achieve a collective goal.

Comentarios

I think soft skills are something super important that we shouldn't take for granted and we got to keep working on them if we want to keep improving ourselves
